Teachers spent an average of $750 on school supplies out of pocket during the 2020-2021 school year (source: AdoptAClassroom.org 2021 Teacher Spending Survey). Teacher spending has increased 25% since AdoptAClassroom.org first began surveying teachers in 2015. The cost of school supplies is rising with inflation, some items by nearly 60% (source: 2022 AdoptAClassroom.org Data on Inflation). Through Burlington's in-store fundraising campaign, the retailer is actively seeking to offset the amount teachers spend out of their own pockets on supplies for their classrooms.

"We continue to see the growing need for support of local teachers and students nationwide. Burlington is steadfast in its commitment to supporting teachers as they continue to navigate challenging times," said Michael O'Sullivan, CEO of Burlington Stores. "In working with our trusted partner AdoptAClassroom.org, we look forward to providing the funds needed for students to learn and reach their full potential this school year."

“Burlington has been an amazing partner these past six years. They really care about the communities where they operate and where their customers and associates live and work,” said Ann Pifer, executive director, AdoptAClassroom.org. “Burlington knows when they support high needs schools with the tools and materials their students need to learn and succeed in school, they are building a better future for everyone.”
